ORGANISER AND LOCATION

The 2018 China Drone Racing Open China Open will take place in Shenzhen, China, on the venue retained for the 2018 FAI World Drone Racing Championships.

The China Open contest is hosted by the Bureau of Sports, Culture and Tourism of Municipality of Shenzhen and Kaisa Culture Sports & Tourism Group. The Aero Sports Federation of China (ASFC) is the National Airsport Control in China.

City of Shenzhen is located in the south of China, near Guangzhou and Hong Kong cities.

There is an international airport in Shenzhen: Bao'an International Airport (SZX). The distance from airport to the venue is 50 km, with a driving time about 1 hour 15 mins.

There are other international airports near Shenzhen.

Distance from Hong Kong airport (HKG) to Shenzhen: 60 km. It is easy to go from Hong Kong airport to Shenzhen by train or bus, but it needs to pass the border control in Shenzhen which may take time.

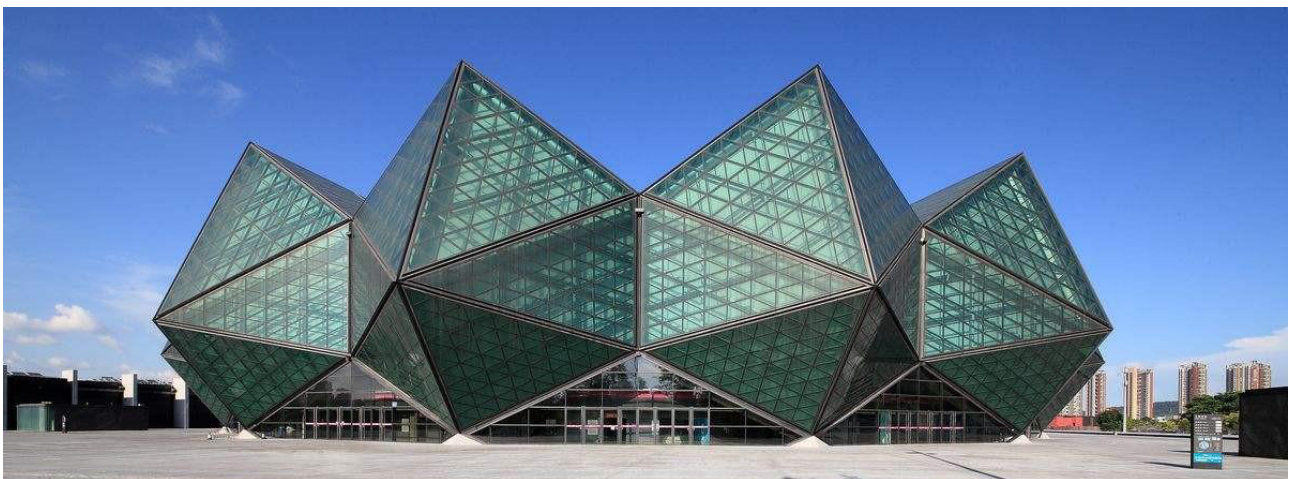

Distance from Guangzhou airport (CAN) to Shenzhen: 150 km with many public transportation options to Shenzhen.

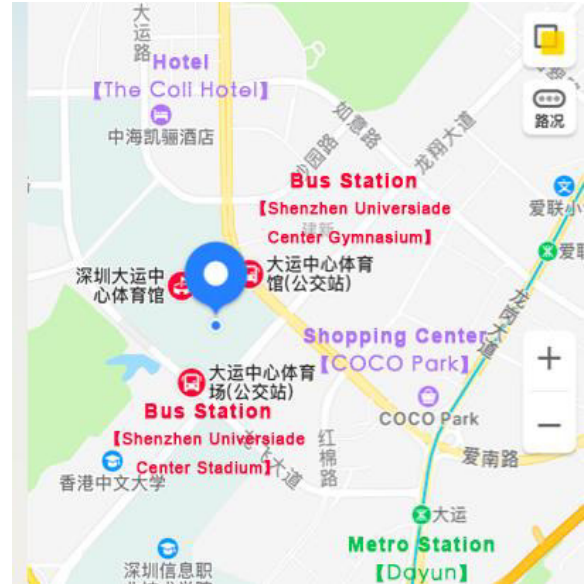

Many international flights are scheduled to these cities.

Event venue: Shenzhen Universiade Center Stadium

Address: N° 3001 Longxiang Avenue - Longgang District - Shenzhen

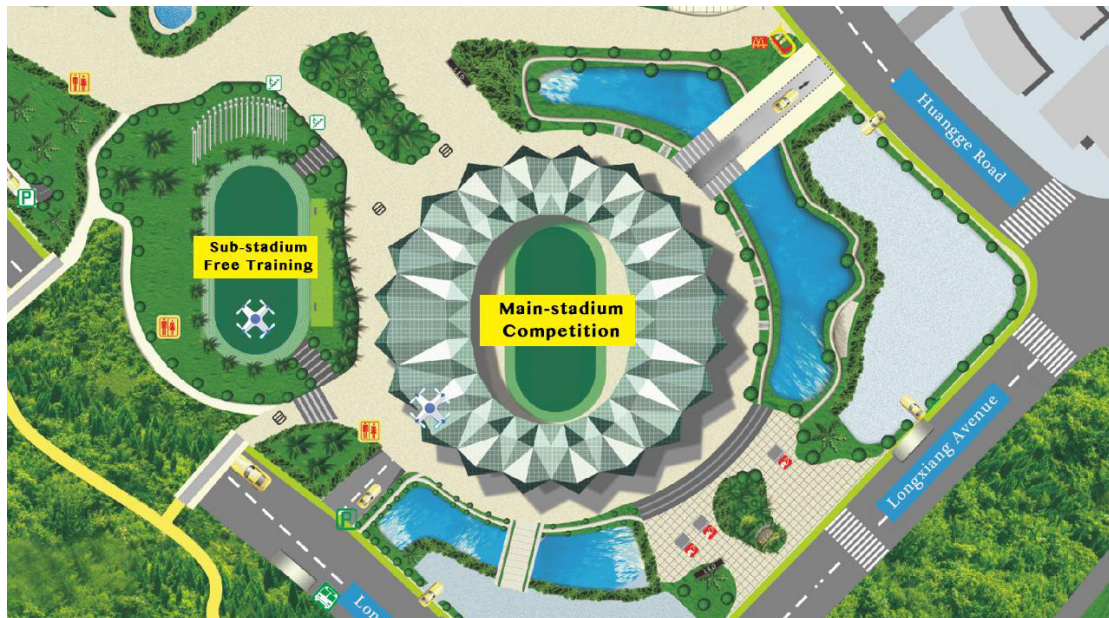

Searching “Universiade Shenzhen Gymnasium” by Google Map: N 22°41' 49.20" – E 114° 13' 7.57"

The main stadium will be used for all phases of the competition.

Free-training on the sub-stadium will be possible with possibly some video restrictions.
