Section 5 – Expectations

6. 2 ISC JUDGE TRAINING COURSE

- The aim of the ISC JUDGE TRAINING COURSE is to assess candidates' knowledge and ability to judge a FAI competition. On this occasion, the candidates' judging practical skills prior to the course should be as close as possible to those required by the FAI, as the training course on this subject is not intended, in such a short space of time, to learn from scratch but only to assess these skills. Candidates are therefore strongly advised to train before the start of the course (see ISC Website for results and videos or the Video Librarian (6.9.)).

- 6.2.1 ....

- 6.2.2 Chief of Judge Training

Every ISC Judge Training Course must be carried out by the CJT. The material provided by the ISC Judge Training Course Coordinator must be used.....

- The CJT or the judge appointed by the ISC Judges Committee must remind candidates of the aim of the course as set forth in 6.2.

Before the start of each ISC Judge Training Course, the requirements for each candidate to attend the course must be verified. If all requirements are not met, and for the purposes of article 6.4.1(1), they can be regularized before the conclusion of the course, otherwise the candidate will be deemed to have failed.
