

CIMP-Meeting 14./15.06.2008, Lausanne, Switzerland - National report of Switzerland

Dr. René Maire, Delegate of the Aero-Club of Switzerland (AeCS)

1. EASA and Switzerland: Since 01.12.2006 the EASA-rules/-regulations/-legislation are valid in Switzerland. Switzerland is member of the EASA in accordance to the bilateral contracts with the EU. All responsible bodies within Switzerland are working hard to implement the new regulations. A working group of the Aero-Club of Switzerland (AeCS) is now also involved in studying the EASA NPA No. 2008-17a-c.
2. Swiss Society of Aviation Medicine: This organisation exists since several decades, but there has been no activity anymore within the last seven or eight years. This organisation has been reset up during the Swiss AME-Meeting in Murten in May 2008; a new board has been elected in which two of the AeCS-medical doctors are members of: Dr. Stefan Drechsel (president) and me (member).
3. Increase of fees: The AeCS is concerned about the fact that fees of different kinds, which affect the general aviation and sports aviation activity, have been increasing in the last several years.
4. There have been some changes in the structure of the controlled airspace within the last several years. The pressure arising from the commercial aviation (airports) to increase the areas of controlled airspace is observed intensively by the AeCS, and in open negotiation processes, the AeCS tries to play an active role.
5. Human factors: In order to promote the topic „human factors“ within the sports aviation community of Switzerland I invited Jürgen Knüppel, German delegate for CIMP and „human factors“-expert. He gave a talk in Lucerne for interested AeCS-members in March 2008, and his presentation was well appreciated.
6. International Airport Zurich-Kloten: The problems related to restrictions for the airtraffic of the Airport Zurich-Kloten above German territory, imposed by Germany, are still a huge matter of political and aviatric debate. I refer to my previous reports of 2007.
